I like the foundation on the Scriptures and the priority of the family as God s tool for shaping children and passing on faith to them. I like the way he looked for etymology of words in the original languages. I especially like the way he made it practical, giving parents specific things to do with their kids and ways to work with them. I also liked the home activities he provides for people at the back. Thank you for including our site in additional resources. Good job.
